

international windsurfing association

For Links to Class websites and video features scroll to the bottom of this home page

End of 2015 Asian Windsurfing Championships, Enoshima, heralds new beginning

- Home
- Organisation
- Competition
- Women
- Connect to Windsurfing
- Links
- Archive News
- Contact

Home

Enoshima Asian Windsurfing Championships gets underway

Posted On: 29/09/2015 03:05:01

Two races were completed for all fleets on the first day of racing at the 2015 Asian Windsurfing Championships hosted by the Enoshima Chotto Yacht Beach Club. Enoshima island and its surrounding waters will provide the racing environment for the championships, as it will for the 2020 Olympic Sailing Regatta, and as it has in the past at the 1964 Olympic Games.

Three classes are competing for continental titles and trophies: RSX (olympic class), Techno 293 (youth olympic class) and the new Techno 293 Plus class.

The leading sailors in each constituted division after 2 races are:

- RSX Men: Leung Ho Tsun (HKG-2)
- RSX Women: Ngai Wai Yan (HKG-4)
- RSX Youth: Kikabhoy Rafeek (HKG-20)
- T293 Junior: Alexander Lim (SIN-1)
- T293 Youth: Cheng Ho Yin (HKG-36)
- T293 Open Men: Mori Yuta (JPN-7772)
- T293 Open Women: Kawamura Mao (JPN-2017)
- T293 Plus: Iwasaki Yuta (JPN-170)

Full results

Day 1 video

Photo Gallery

Follow the action via live streaming from event website home page
Event website

Back

RACING RULES OF SAILING 2013-2016

Coming soon . . .
 specialist edition of WCR 2013-2016
 short summary of changes to WCR

Go direct to ENTER ON-LINE
 (credit/debit card required)

COMPETITOR ENTRY LISTS

UPCOMING EVENTS

RECENT EVENTS

Subscribe to IWA News

GET INSURANCE

GET SAIL NUMBERS

